What they really spend (task 56a), 2 Nov 2026

The rule (a proposal for the CEO): an Official Partner costs 1% of the median advertising line, Portugal scope, of the sourced companies in its category, rounded to 5,000 €. Partner is 30% of that and Featured 10%.

The figures come from the 2025 annual reports' advertising lines unless stated. These lines are a floor: sponsorship sits outside them. CGD also reports about 20 M€ of "investimento na comunidade (incluindo patrocínios)".

No public figure was found for these categories: their v6 ranges stay as the CEO's unsourced proposal until a figure is found.

- Private banking.
- Digital banking and investing.
- Wine, and spirits and coffee: the houses are private.
- Mobility.
- Energy: EDP and Galp show no advertising line.
- Hotels, golf and luxury.
- Schools and higher education.
- The Portugal 100 Presenting Partner.

The market:

- Digital advertising in Portugal was 612 M€ in 2025, up 10.2% (IAB Europe AdEx, via ECO, 23 Jul 2026).
- The total market was forecast above 900 M€ for 2025 (IPG Mediabrands/Magna, December 2024 forecast).
- MediaMonitor's 2025 ranking (Continente #1 at 630 M€, MEO #6, NOS #7, Vodafone #9) is at rate card, about 10× real spend: NOS 441 M€ at rate card against 40.2 M€ in its accounts. Use it to rank companies, never as a budget.

What it means:

- Banks and hospital groups spend less on advertising than v6 assumed, so their anchors fall.
- TAP and NOS spend more, so theirs rise.
- Founding −40% and the 90-day pilot at 25% still apply. The banking pilot is 20,000 €, about 0.15–0.3% of one bank's line.

Could not verify:

- BPI, ABANCA, Ageas/Médis, Generali Tranquilidade, Allianz, Zurich, MAPFRE and Lusíadas: reports not reached in time, or not online.
- MEO and Vodafone Portugal: no advertising line published.
- marktest.com is blocked here, so I have no MediaMonitor total or ranking by sector in euros.
- Millennium bcp and Santander Totta lines were read in the English versions.
