.com is registered for every name; whether a holder sells is the operator's aftermarket check.

The three finalists

1. Lusoma — the most protectable: coined, easy in five languages, no collision, four of five checkable domains free; reads as "the Portuguese sum", which fits a platform built on numbers.
    - Buy: lusoma.pt, lusoma.net, lusoma.fr, lusoma.com.br; check lusoma.lu, lusoma.ch, lusoma.us, lusoma.co.il; ask the holder of lusoma.com.
    - Handles: YouTube @lusoma (free); check Instagram, X, TikTok, LinkedIn by hand (LinkedIn and TikTok answered "taken").
2. Latitude 39 — the clearest story (Portugal on the map, seen from abroad), the same word in PT, FR and EN; a number pairs with the index.
    - Buy: latitude39.pt, latitude39.fr, latitude39.com.br; check .lu, .ch, .us, .co.il; latitude39.com and .net are registered.
    - Handles: all to check by hand (LinkedIn "taken").
3. Miralto — coined from Portuguese ("look from above"), distinctive in our classes outside Italy; the Milan real-estate company is the one risk to clear in TMview.
    - Buy: miralto.pt, miralto.net; check .lu, .ch, .us, .co.il; .com, .fr and .com.br registered.
    - Handles: YouTube @miralto (free); the rest by hand.

For all three: file a word mark at INPI (Portugal) and the EUIPO in classes 35 (advertising, online advertising space), 36 (real-estate information, financial information), 41 (publication of guides and online information, not news) and 42 (data platforms, software as a service); then INPI Brazil and the USPTO. Run TMview first: identical and similar signs, the four classes, all offices it covers.

Registration conditions noted (from the registries' published rules; re-check at purchase)

- .com.br: a Brazilian taxpayer number (CPF or CNPJ) is required; a foreign company registers through a representative with a Brazilian CNPJ.
- .co.il: ISOC-IL accredited registrars; check the current local-presence rule with the registrar at purchase.
- .us: the US Nexus requirement (a US person or a bona fide presence in the US).
- .fr: registrant in the EU, EEA or Switzerland (a Portuguese Lda qualifies).
- .lu, .ch, .pt: open; no local presence needed for a Portuguese company.
