Audit, 29 Oct 2026 (prompt 43 §1)

Measured in Chromium on a phone (iPhone 13, 390×844) and a desktop (1440×900), on our live build (main) and on the benchmarks the network allows: Vanguard Properties (vangproperties.com), Doutor Finanças (doutorfinancas.pt) and Claridge's (maybourne.com). Blocked by this session's network allowlist, not measured: Shalu Properties, Six Senses, Aman, Conrad Algarve, JNcQUOI (idealista also refuses automated visits). Script: scripts/audit/bench.mjs.

The ten changes that matter most

1. Home: from ten blocks to five. Today 10 blocks and 13 screens on a phone (Vanguard: 5 blocks; Claridge's opens on one image and one line). Keep the film and the bar ("Começar" opens the Concierge), the map, Passo a passo, the questions and the weekly letter; everything else goes to an article or out.
2. One type scale. We use 15–16 different text sizes on the home page and 11–14 elsewhere; Claridge's uses 7–10, Doutor Finanças 8–11. Six sizes for everything: 13, 15, 17, 21, 28, 40 (display 64 on desktop only, for the hero).
3. One spacing scale. 8, 16, 24, 40, 64, 104. Every gap on every page comes from it.
4. The same navigation on phone and desktop. Today the phone shows 4 header links plus a 6-tab bar (without Artigos) plus a menu; the desktop shows 13 links. Same items, same order, same words on both: Passo a passo · Mapa · Simuladores · Artigos · Perguntas · Parceiros, plus Concierge. One pattern per device, everywhere: inline on desktop, one menu sheet on the phone; the bottom tab bar goes.
5. Perguntas: one line per question. 2,495 words on one page today (Doutor Finanças hides answers behind the question). The answer opens in place, two or three sentences, then "Saiba mais" to the article.
6. Passo a passo: one question, one action per screen. The first block has 66 links today. Each station: a plain question, two or three positive sentences, "Saiba mais", and one partner link matched to the topic.
7. Articles: the answer first, written for a foreigner. Average 1,270 words, 15 words per sentence, Portuguese terms not always explained, some AI tells. Target phrase in title, H1, slug, description and first sentence; the answer in two sentences; H2s as the questions people search; FAQ data; 600–1,200 words.
8. Sources: one line, opened on demand. Every page ends with 100–400 words of sources. They stay (D12), folded into "Fontes (n)" that opens in place.
9. Weight. Home 2.6 MB on a phone, 1.9 MB of it the film (kept as it is); everything else must stay under 1.2 MB. The Parceiros page loads 2 MB of map code on desktop for one small embed: load it only when the reader touches it. JavaScript per page today 30–76 KB, within budget.
10. Parceiros is two pages in one. Readers get the partners who help them; the sponsor pitch (audience, packages, "before the launch") moves to the page for partners, linked once.

What the benchmarks do

	Blocks on home (phone)	Words, first screen (phone · desktop)	Text sizes	Body / H1 (phone)	Navigation	Actions, first screen
Vanguard	5	33 · 83	10	16 / 24	menu on both	1–2
Doutor Finanças	11	260 · 382	8–9	14 / 28	menu on phone, 14 links on desktop	5–10
Claridge's	13 (photo-led)	73 · 74	7–10	16 / 16	menu on both	4
Imóveis Portugal	10	64 · 58	15–16	17 / 44	tab bar + menu on phone, 13 links on desktop	2–3

What makes them effortless: few words per screen (Vanguard, Claridge's), one image or one sentence at a time, few type sizes, one navigation pattern repeated everywhere, articles that answer before they explain (Doutor Finanças), and one obvious action per screen.
